WRITING A BOOK CRITIQUE OR ANALYSIS

Don Bixby

The Critique should generally include:

I. SUMMARY OF THE BOOK

A brief overview of the book should be provided to present its basic propositions, highlights, main emphases, and flow of thought.

II. CRITIQUE OF THE BOOK

This section should include an evaluation of the following:

- A. The author's purpose, and did he fulfill it.
- B. The credibility of the book
- C. The scholarship of the book
Research? Footnotes? Has he researched those who disagree with his thesis?
- D. Writing style of the author. Readable, vague, informative, logical?
- E. Main strengths of the book
- F. Main weaknesses of the book

Throughout the critique, it is often good to provide brief quotes or references to demonstrate your point. When finished, one should be able to read the critique and have a general understanding of the book, and its strengths and weaknesses.
